10 Kiddies Die As Train Rams School Bus

Driver And Engineer Are Arrested After Tennessee Accident

SPRING CITY, Tenn. (AP)—A long freight train, its diesel horn blasting, rammed into a loaded grammar school bus here yesterday, killing 10 youngsters and injuring 31 others.

The yellow-painted bus was midway across the downtown grade crossing when the 100-car train smashed into it at an estimated speed of 45 miles an hour. Bystanders, some with children aboard the bus, stood horrified as the little bodies were flung along the tracks.

The children, ranging in age from 6 to 12, had just begun the second week of school. All were killed or injured.

At least 5 of the 21 hospitalized overnight were in serious condition. Nine others and the bus driver, Raymond Moore, 39, were treated and released.

All the victims were thought to have lived in the Back Valley community just northwest of Spring City, a town of 2,000.

MOORE, WHO started driving a school bus only last week, said he stopped at the crossing but his view was blocked by four parked cars.

"When I started across the tracks I saw it (the train) and heard the engineer blowing his whistle," he said. "I prayed I would make it but I knew I was too late."

Moore was charged with manslaughter and released on bond. Paul Gilles, engineer of the Southern Railway train, also was charged with manslaughter, highway patrolmen said. Hearing for both men was set for Aug. 30.

Chicago Cops Free Wrong Con In Mixup

CHICAGO (AP)—A mixup of records of two prisoners named Fullilove brought the release of the wrong man yesterday from Cook County jail here.

Andrew Fullilove, 35, who was awaiting trial on two charges of assault with intent to kill and one of robbery, was released when jail attendants mistook him for A. J. Fullilove.

A. J. Fullilove, 26, in jail on a charge of stealing a cow in Mississippi, was scheduled to appear in court after an application for a writ of habeas corpus had been filed in his behalf.

Chief Justice Richard B. Austin granted a motion for the release of A. J. Fullilove, pending a hearing on the writ. Andrew Fullilove signed the $500 bond supplied by a professional bondsman and shortly after was released from custody.

The error was not discovered for about two hours. Police said Andrew Fullilove was a former convict and had been in jail since April 26. His bond had been set at $20,000.

A. J. Fullilove has been in jail since Thursday.

Judge Austin declined to comment on the mixup, except to describe it as "another of those things."

Meanwhile, A. J. Fullilove remained in jail while police searched for Andrew Fullilove.

Governor Lausche Ponders Clemency For Logan Slayer

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche still had under study today the clemency appeal of Benjamin Meyer, former Logan man scheduled for execution in Ohio Penitentiary Thursday night.

Unless granted a reprieve by the governor, the 23-year-old man will die for the Feb. 15, 1954, fatal shooting of his estranged wife Velvia. The shooting followed an unsuccessful attempt at reconciliation of Meyer with his estranged wife at a residence near Logan where Mrs. Meyer and her five children had been staying after she filed a suit for divorce.

Gov. Lausche said today he still had the case under consideration and will announce his decision tomorrow or Thursday.

Hillsboro Negro Students Planning Another Boycott

HILLSBORO (AP)—The board of education today faced the problem of continued absenteeism of a score of Negro students unless the use of an ancient all-Negro school building is abandoned.

One Negro mother told the board her children would not attend classes in September unless the school rooms are racially integrated. She said 20 to 30 other children would be kept home in protest of what the parents considered racial segregation.

Thirty-three Negro students did not attend school last year. Only 20 received instruction at the all-Negro Lincoln building. Another 11 were enrolled in the city's two other elementary schools, previously all-white institutions.

The school board has maintained that its schools are not segregated. Junior and senior high school classes have members of both races in them. The school board claims Lincoln is an all-Negro school because of residential patterns and not because of racial restrictions. Abandonment of Lincoln would cause overcrowding, says School Board President John H. Brown.

The Negro parents, backed by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, brought suit in U. S. district court last year to stop the newly-adopted zoning practice and to permit the enrollment in what had been

AEC Chieftain Says Geneva Helped 'Peace'

DENVER (AP)—The atom-for-peace conference in Geneva "enormously assisted the cause of peace" and President Eisenhower is hopeful there will be another such meeting, Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said yesterday.

Strauss, in Denver to report to the President of the just-concluded meeting, told Eisenhower that out of the conference came indications "that the United States is clearly ahead" of Russia in development of atomic power for peaceful use.

The AEC chairman, who headed the U. S. delegation at the meeting of scientists from 67 nations, observed that the most important development of the meeting is that it was determined that "it is possible for scientists to communicate regarding the peaceful aspects of atomic energy without violating security" as far as atomic weapons are concerned.

However, he emphasized, there was no discussion of nuclear weapons at the sessions.

"The Geneva conference has solidly lined up scientists of the world behind the President's peace program," Strauss said.

Strauss, who flew from Switzerland to report to Eisenhower, was high in his praise of the Russian scientists.

He said they were friendly, "just like our fellows."

Another Columbus Escapee Nabbed

COLUMBUS (AP)—An escapee who broke out of Columbus Workhouse Saturday was captured early today at his home here.

He is Jack Devine, 21, who with six other men sawed through three bars of a dormitory window and slid to the ground on twisted mattress covers. Four fugitives were arrested Sunday. The two still at large are Robert McDaniell, 28, Mansfield, and Lawrence Sullivan, 35, of Briggsdale. The city, meanwhile, announced it was launching a probe to find out why guards failed to notice the sawing operation.

all-white primary schools. The court denied the petition.

New buildings at the Webster and Washington elementary buildings are being constructed from a $675,000 bond issue approved by the voters in 1953. Webster pupils will be housed in the new building in September but the Washington school will not be completed until next year.

In the meantime, Washington pupils will go to the old Webster building and the Lincoln students will stay at Lincoln. The board said overcrowding would result if the Lincoln school was not used. However, the board has promised complete integration once the building program is completed.

Judge Opines About Devil And Baseball

HAMILTON (AP)—Judge P. P. Boli jumped into a church controversy in common pleas court yesterday and rendered some judgments about the devil and the Cincinnati Redlegs baseball team.

He also had some comments about how the Rev. Eddie Lawson "reorganized" a Middletown Holiness church.

Rev. Mr. Lawson, the judge said, appointed an uncle, son, son-in-law and daughter to various church posts, adding: "The minutes do not reveal whether there were no more offices to fill or whether they ran short of Lawsons."

The church difficulties started when the Free Holiness Church of God temporarily left its quarters last winter because it could not afford a furnace to heat the building. Church leaders said Rev. M. Lawson promptly moved in and "reorganized" the church. The court suit was filed to get clear title to the church property. The judge ruled in favor of the Free Holiness group.

Testimony touched about "a millennial reign wherein Christ will reign on earth for 1,000 years during which time the devil will be bound."

The judge commented: "Although putting the devil out of business for a thousand years should be welcome news to anyone, especially during the present heat spell, somehow we could never get ourselves worked up over the question of what is going to happen 1,000 years from now. People are more interested in whether the Redlegs are going to finish in the first division."

U.S., China Aides Hold Short Parley

GENEVA (AP)—The ambassadors of the United States and Communist China today held their shortest session to date — 27 minutes — in their negotiations on repatriation of civilians each charges the other with holding.

U. Alexis Johnson, U.S. ambassador to Prague, and Wang Pingnan, Red China's envoy to Warsaw, started the fourth week of their negotiations here still without any sign of agreement. The next meeting will be held Thursday. They began their talks Aug. 1 after Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai stated that it should not be difficult to settle the problem of 41 American civilians Peiping is holding in China.

French Aiming Major Strike At Tribesmen

Heavy Troop Movement Heads For Mountain Strongholds Of Rebels

CASABLANCA (AP)—Armored French columns under fighter plane cover struck today in overwhelming strength at the mountain strongholds of Moroccan tribesmen who launched an insurrection Saturday.

Heavy reinforcing columns set out last night from Rabat and Kefes to join the already strong French forces cutting off the Kasba Taldia area east of Oued Zem.

French officials would not disclose the number of troops employed but said, "When you go into those mountains, you don't do it with 50 men."

Although the operation was characterized as a "punitive expedition," French officials said there would be no "repression," which in French military terminology means no mass executions.

The main targets of the expedition are the 4,000 Berber tribesmen, formerly friendly to the French, who rode out of the hills to raid Oued Zem, where about 88 Frenchmen were killed.

ALTHOUGH NO official figures for the still growing weekend death toll were available, French officials acknowledged privately that it might reach 1,000 in Morocco alone. In Algeria, hundreds more casualties were reported.

The tense atmosphere of Morocco was emphasized today when about 3,000 persons gathered before Casablanca's military memorial to pay tribute to the French dead.

Last night, fresh troops clogged the roads moving towards the Atlas Mountains and some villages in the hills were evacuated. The French cut off the area from all traffic not escorted by military convoy.

The French denied that any censorship is in effect but lack of official reports, communications difficulties and roadblocks cut information to a minimum.

The reprisals in Morocco overshadowed similar operations in Algeria, where order apparently was more quickly restored.

343 Successful In Lawyer Exams

COLUMBUS (AP)—Alan E. Riedel of Cleveland Heights received the highest grade among 343 successful applicants taking state bar examinations last June to become attorneys.

Riedel's grade was 89.3 per cent. Second highest grade was 87.5 per cent posted by Francis C. Andrews of Toledo.

A total of 590 applicants took the examinations. Of that number, 245 failed.

Among those successful were: Charles S. Mechem, Jr., Nelsonville.

William M. Bailey, Wilmington.

Ohio Skipper-For-Fun Dies As Honeymoon Boat Upsets

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—The Little Lady, a 16-foot honeymoon cruiser named by her 78-year-old Ohio skipper in honor of his bride, capsized in storm-swept Lake Erie yesterday.

The skipper drowned. His wife was saved after floundering three hours in a life belt. Only a rare bit of luck kept Mrs. Harvey Hecker, 70, from drowning. By chance, Herbert Durst, of nearby North East, saw the couple's capsized boat in the heaving surf. He pulled Mrs. Hecker from the water. She is in fair condition at an Erie hospital.

Neither Hecker nor his bride could swim. But that didn't keep them from traveling several thousand miles since they were married May 21 in Florida. Hecker didn't make his first long boat trip until he was 75. With a smile, he said then: "Maybe I'm a damn fool, but I'm going to have some fun before I die."

Injured Flier Says Reds Treated Him 'Fairly Well'

KUMHWA, Korea (AP)—The Communists today freed an American Air Force flier and handed over the body of an Army captain in a weird ceremony in the middle of the Korean neutral zone.

The two were shot down by Red gunners a week ago.

"I was treated fairly well," said the survivor, 2nd Lt. Guy H. Bumpas of Jackson, Miss., in a last-minute question-and-answer session with a Communist officer.

The Communists also handed the body of Army Capt. Charles W. Brown of West Louisville, Ky., Bumpas' observer-passenger on the Aug. 17 flight.

The Reds say the light, unarmed training plane was spying. The United Nations command charges "trigger-happy" gunners fired on it when it was lost.

A bandage covered Bumpas' right eye and the right side of his forehead as he crossed a small bridge to the Allied side of the Korean truce line.

The Air Force flier was escorted to the bridge by a North Korean lieutenant colonel. Before he crossed it, the Communist officer told waiting authorities he wanted to ask Bumpas some questions.

"Please limit your questions," said Lt. Col. Harold A. Dye, Atlanta, Ga., who later signed a receipt acknowledging return of Bumpas and Brown's body.

"Can you tell me about your treatment in North Korea?" the Red officer asked.

Bumpas replied quickly: "It was all right. It was OK. The treatment, considering the circumstances, was all right. I was treated fairly well." He spoke in a voice audible to some 25 Allied officers and correspondents standing on the other side of the armistice line.

The Communist asked: "Lieutenant, please confirm that you have all your personal belongings."

Bumpas, who carried his personal effects in a small wrapped package, acknowledged he had them. Then Bumpas was asked: "What do you think of our medical treatment?"

He replied: "As far as I know—I'm no doctor—I seem to be getting along all right." The Allies have reported he has suffered a concussion.

Finally, the Communist lieutenant colonel asked, "Do you want to say anything else?"

Bumpas, one step from freedom, said nervously, waving his hand toward the Allied side: "I'm through. I'm ready to go back."

After Dye signed a receipt for Bumpas, the Communist officer declared:

"Our side is hoping your wound gets well."

Bumpas replied: "Thank you very much." Then he was escorted to a waiting ambulance. He refused to talk to newsmen.

New Projects Under Way For Upcoming Fair

With the Pickaway County Fair little more than three weeks away, plans are moving ahead rapidly to take care of an expected "increase" in the event four-day this year.

Henry Reid, secretary of the Fair Board, has revealed a number of projects already under way. These include:

1. A new cattle wash barn. This will be located behind the open pole barns.
2. Enlargement of the present wash racks at the show barn and the 4-H barn.

(BOTH OF these are being accomplished through the cooperation of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau, Don Courtwright of Ashville and several 4-H Clubs, Reid pointed out.)

3. Plans for enlarging the loading docks. (Reid explained that this was suggested most frequently last year when there was congestion just before the Fair and after the livestock sale on Saturday night.)

In addition, a lot of painting, repairing and cleaning up is taking place, according to Reid. He said that "we are expecting a larger livestock than we have ever had."

A number of new attractions have also been planned, including horseshoe pitching and casting.

Jap Women Bathers Object To Hiring Of Scrub Boys

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese women, newly armed with the right to complain, are revolting against an ancient institution, the scrub boy at the public bath.

"Men, get out of the women's section," they are demanding. Japan's 19,000 public baths, patronized by 70 per cent of the population, are divided into men's and women's sections. But at least 38,000 men, mostly young and robust, work in both sections. They have done so for generations.

These attendants wear only shorts as they scrub backs and regulate the water for stark naked bathers, male and female.

Indian Envoy Is Mistaken For A Negro

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Because a restaurant supervisor thought they were Negroes, India's ambassador to the United States and his secretary were asked to leave the public dining room of a swank eating place here yesterday.

Mrs. Mary Alley, the supervisor, was reported by a witness to have said she asked the pair to take service in a small private dining room. "The law's the law," she was quoted as saying.

If they had refused to move, the witness quoted Mrs. Alley as adding, "I would have had to have them moved."

The witness, Houston Public Relations Counsel Frank Giber, said he was told by Mrs. Alley that she "thought they were Negroes."

Texas law forbids serving Negroes and white people in the same room. Houston's contract with the federal government, however, bans discrimination at the International Airport, where the incident occurred in the Horizon House Restaurant.

The Houston Post said today that at least six witnesses told of hearing Mrs. Alley ask the ambassador, Gaganvihari Lalubhai Mehta, and his secretary B. A. Rajagopalan to leave the dining room.

The ambassador and his secretary looked at each other, smiled and, without protest, followed Mrs. Alley into a smaller dining room back of the cashier's cage.

The two Indians were en route to Mexico City from Washington.

Whiskey And Cash Missing Following Breakin Of Tavern

An estimated $250 in cash and 100 bottles of liquor and whiskey were taken during a break-in of Tink's Tavern sometime early Tuesday morning.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff said that entry was made through a door in the north side of the tavern, located on Route 23 north of Circleville. Discovery of the break-in was made at approximately 10 a. m. Tuesday by Mrs. Eldon Hill, wife of the owner "Tink" Hill.

Sheriff Radcliff said that the tavern was entered sometime after the closing time of 1 a. m. He added that a dense fog which rolled in to the area overnight apparently aided in concealing the break-in from cars which passed by on the well-traveled highway.

The 100 bottles of liquor and whiskey which were taken were valued at $4.50 each, the sheriff said.

Ross County Fair Battles High Wind

CHILLICOTHE (AP)—High winds and rains of the last two days disrupted events at the Ross County Fair, knocking down tents and damaging exhibits.

Biggest damage was to a 60 by 300 foot tent sheltering rabbits and poultry. Part of the tent collapsed on the pens and ripped some sections. A highway department tent fell, damaging the exhibit.

Repairs were made quickly and the fair was on normal schedule today. Harness racing is scheduled tonight and tomorrow night.

Special Session May Be Called By President

$75 Million Federal Aid Said Needed To Bring Normalcy To Northeast

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—President Eisenhower flew in here today to view flood damage in the six Northeastern states and declared that "if necessary, I will call a special session of Congress to appropriate money needed" to restore normalcy.

After the presidential statement, Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson estimated $75 million would be needed from the President's emergency fund to aid the devastated areas.

Peterson said there now is $11,600,000 in the fund. The President, he said, will ask leaders of Congress today for permission to make allocations extending the credit of the government up to the amount needed. After his inspection, the President flew to Washington.

Peterson said that the $75 million would be allocated as follows: Connecticut and Pennsylvania $25 million each.

Rhode Island and New Jersey $5 million each.

PETERSON SAID that all agencies have been directed by the President to "cut out all red tape."

On his early morning aerial tour of flood-stricken sections of four states, the President tersely commented that the floods were a "terrible thing."

After a conference with the governors of the six states and representatives of the governors of North and South Carolina, Eisenhower said:

"I have met here with the governors. You have read in the papers and seen on television what has happened. But you can have no conception of what has happened until you have come here and listened to these governors."

"This is a case where the federal government, state governments, and county governments will do everything they can."

The President said he wanted to make sure that federal agencies were not "meager or stingy" in dealing with the flood created problems.

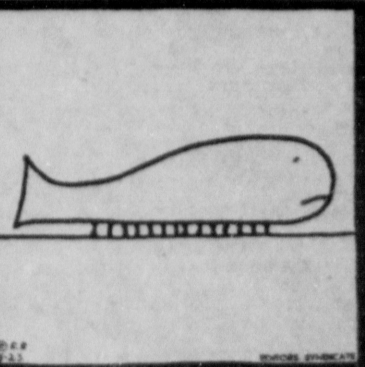

He said the federal government (Continued on Page Two)

DROODLES

"ESKIMO FAMILY CARRYING WHALE HOME FOR DINNER"

Like all good Doodles this one teaches us something: It teaches us that Eskimos hunt in family groups which is probably safer, but I'll bet it's tough on the Eskimo Husband always having to take his Little Woman along. Especially if she's the type who's a back-sled driver and keeps interrupting his Mushes with "Look out for that iceberg!" "I told you to turn left at the Glacier!" "I'm hungry, let's stop for a Blubber-burger!" "Are you sure you filled the dogs before we left?" "Be careful of that crazy Caribou!" and then "Turn back. I forgot to lock the igloo! It was probably a wife like that who first inspired the expression, 'tough sledding.'"

Old Electric Trucks Retired By Company

Express Firm Finds Famous Units Fail To Keep 'Modern'

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The big city's traffic jams and fast spreading suburbia today have claimed another victim.

The last of its electrically driven pickup and delivery trucks has been retired by the Railway Express Agency. Figuratively, it joins the last of the company's horses, put out to pasture in 1933.

From now on the gasoline motor reigns alone in the company's service—until and unless the atom pushes it out in turn.

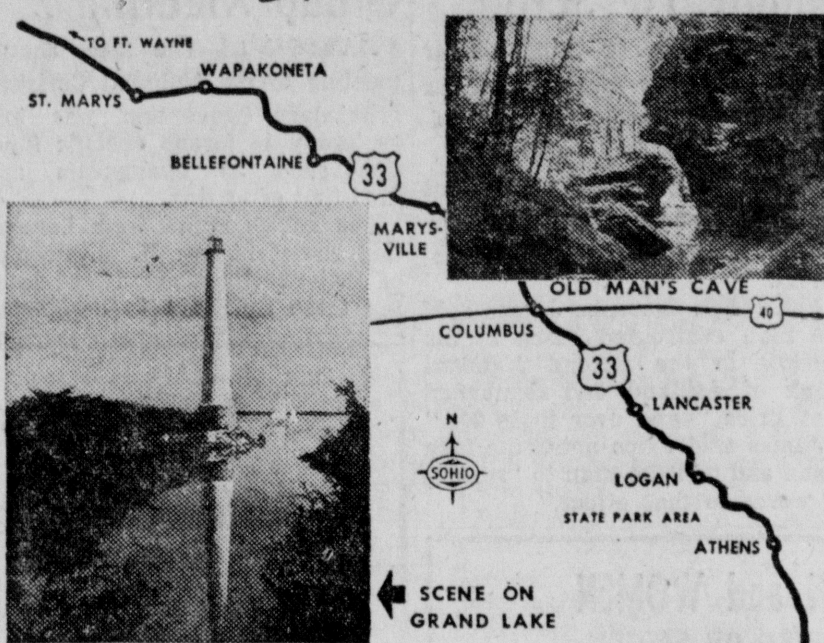

The electric had a 45 year span with the express company. Thousands of them, with their solid rubber tires, once moved through the streets of 30 or more cities. In their heyday 166 operated in Chicago, 174 in Philadelphia. Finally only New Yorkers saw them—and mercifully didn't hear them.

In World War II the electric returned for a last fling of glory. They glided along, thumping their noses at the gasoline shortage and unadorned with ration stickers on their windshields. For a while in the postwar era the company still found them economical.

A company spokesman says: "They are practical now only in certain conditions, like New York's concentrated garment district, where they can do a whole day's work in a small area, with stops mainly for loading, with the batteries turned off."

"But for long hauls around today's sprawling cities they're uneconomical. They can't make fast getaways from traffic jams. The constant starting and idling runs their batteries down too fast. Batteries aren't cheap. They cost around $2,000 per vehicle, require elaborate equipment for recharging, and have to be recharged almost nightly."

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO

Route 33 enters Ohio from West Virginia at Pomeroy on the Ohio River, passes through some of this State's most scenic country in an area rich in Indian lore and is a direct route to Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Ohio's early pioneers knew this route. At Athens was established the first college west of the Alleghenies, Ohio University, which is today one of our big State universities. Logan is known today as the gateway to the Hocking State Parks, which draw many thousands of motorists each summer as they search for recreation and vacation spots. This list of State Parks includes: Cantwell Cliffs, Old Man's Cave, Cedar Falls, Rockbridge, Conkles Hollow, Ash Cave, and the Hocking State Forest.

This highway goes through Columbus and Marysville. It crosses the highest point in Ohio near Bellefontaine and skirts along the edge of Indian Lake, one of Ohio's most popular recreational lakes that was originally one of the reservoirs on the Miami-Erie Canal.

At St. Marys is Grand Lake, for a century and more a popular Ohio recreational and fishing lake that was one of the Miami-Erie Canal reservoirs.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The willingness of Russia's new leaders to let an American farm delegation tour the country may not be proof of peaceful intentions. But in permitting it they show more self-confidence than Stalin.

The exchange visitors — Russian farmers in this country and Americans in Russia — have just finished trips which probably would have been impossible so long as Stalin lived.

The Iron Curtain he pulled down against foreign travel in Russia had its basis in his character and his ideology, including perhaps a pathological self-consciousness and inferiority.

A fear that the progress made by communism under him would appear shabby and retarded to Westerners who examined it first hand might well explain some of the isolation he forced on Russia. The worse it looked, the worse he looked.

switched to a more peaceful line than Stalin's, some wishful thinkers in this country put the use of extremist interpretation on their moves.

The Russians had to have peace, they said, because their agriculture was near collapse.

It would have been less wishful, and less dramatic, to guess that the switch was only a change in tactics or that perhaps the Russians decided peace was really better than the annihilation they faced if war broke out.

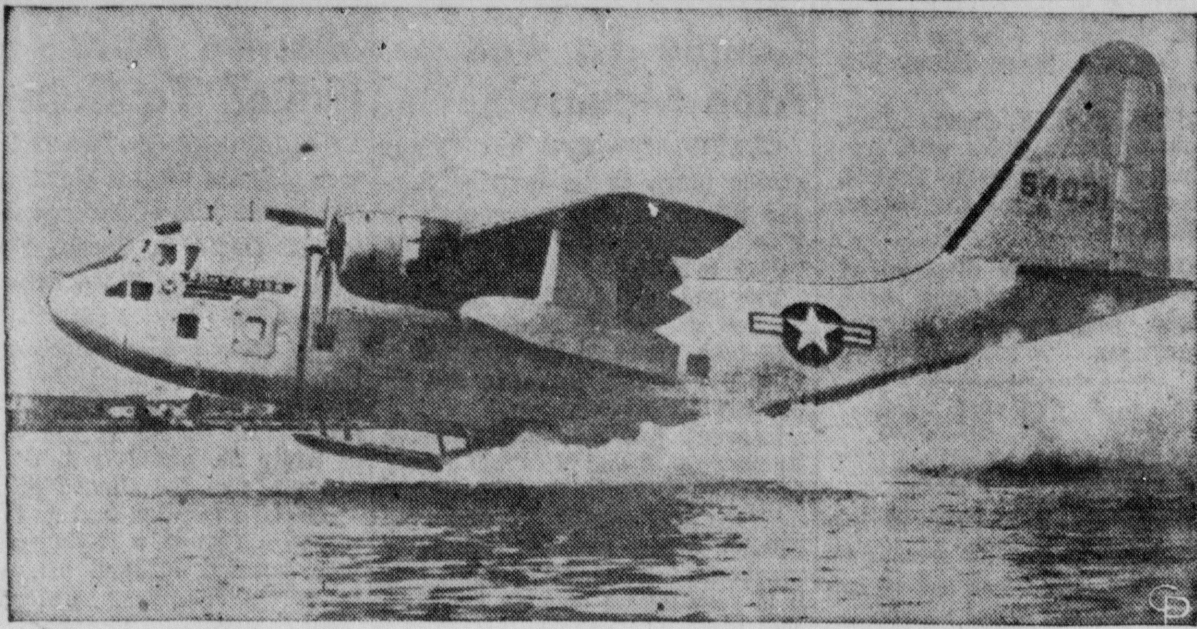

As if in proof that they didn't have to conceal their farm production, the Russians let the American farm delegation visit the country and see the situation first hand.

Nothing that delegation has said so far indicates an impending Russian farm disaster. Russian farm techniques and production per acre lag behind America's.

But Lauren K. Soth, the editorial page editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune who suggested and joined in the farm delegation exchange, said at the end of his trip: "Soviet agriculture is certainly not on the verge of collapse."

Other members of the delegation said they saw no signs of people going hungry or likely to in the near future.

They said the Russians' diet was heavy in bread and potatoes, they needed more cattle and more machinery on the farms, and they are taking big steps to improve their farm program.

The Russian delegation to the United States had little to say, as might be expected, since they will be answerable when they return home for any statements made here.

3 Coal Men Die In Mine Mishap

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (AP)—Three men were killed and eight injured yesterday when the 100 foot high steel and frame Kohinoor coal breaker collapsed in this anthracite community.

Twenty-six men were working in the breaker when the top collapsed and a mass of wood and twisted steel roared down on the men.

Ordinarily 150 men would be working in the breaker but coal shipments were delayed by the floods which washed out railroad lines and roads in disaster stricken eastern Pennsylvania.

Bank Teller Tells Bandit To 'Scram'

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—A bank teller looked down the muzzle of a toy pistol Monday and told a would-be holdup man to "scram."

The unidentified man slipped out a side door and eluded police after teller Gay Price reported the incident.

Police Sgt. Clarence James said the man confronted Price at his window in the Second National Bank of Ashland and demanded that Price "hand over those 20s." James said Price noted the fake pistol and told the man to "scram, or words to that effect."

Texas Eastern helps take the slip out of scatter rugs

TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU

Latex backing, after being applied, is dried and cured in gas-fired ovens. Gas is supplied Aldon Rug Mills in Lenni, Pennsylvania, by the Philadelphia Electric Company, a customer of Texas Eastern.

Natural gas transported by Texas Eastern aids Aldon Rug Mills in adding a safety factor to modern scatter rugs. Aldon makes a new and popular tufted rug with a non-skid latex rubber backing. To cure and dry this latex backing and keep up with fast production schedules was a tough heating problem. A special gas-fired oven with four different and critical temperature ranges solved the problem. Aldon chose gas because it is clean, flexible and provides instant heat.

Airman To Get Dishonorable Discharge Because Dad 'Red'

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Airman 3-c Stephen Branzovich of nearby Farrell, Pa., said today he will fight the U.S. Air Force's attempt to give him a dishonorable discharge from the Air Force Reserve as a security risk because his father once was a Communist.

Branzovich is scheduled to appear before a special Air Force board at Mitchell Air Force Base, New York, Tuesday, Aug. 30, to answer Air Force charges.

The 22-year-old Farrell said he was given two alternatives by the Air Force—either face a hearing, or sign a prepared application for an undesirable discharge. He demanded a hearing, saying in a letter to Air Force officials, "I am only accused of being the son of my father."

In Washington today, the secretary for the Air Force's office referred questions to the Pentagon. There, Capt. James Kent said the Air Force does not care to comment. The Mitchell Field hearing will be private, he said.

Branzovich has enlisted the aid of a number of leaders and organizations in his community to help him in his fight.

The Mercer County, Pa. Bar Assn. has assigned a civilian attorney to help him.

An Air Force statement of reasons supporting the proposed dishonorable discharge for Branzovich says, "You have maintained a close continuing association with your father, Charles Branzovich, who is reported to have been in 1943, and for an unspecified time thereafter, a member or close affiliate of the Communist Party, at or near Pittsburgh and Sharon."

"During 1947, your father is reported to have referred to himself as a Communist. Also, your father is reported to have, prior to 1950, exhibited editorials taken from the 'Daily Worker' to his fellow employees at or near Sharon."

The reasons also state the airman in an interview at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., on Jan. 7, 1954, refused to answer questions as to whether he had ever attended any meetings with his father;

Ohio GI's Wife Misses Husband

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Robinette, 24, who had been waiting here a week for the arrival of her airman husband from Germany, learned yesterday he already is home in Chillicothe, Ohio.

The husband, Airman Paul A. Robinette, 22, arrived Sunday at McGuire Air Force Base, near Ft. Dix, N. J. Apparently he did not know his wife was in New York, and left immediately for the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Robinette. The airman headed back to New York today.

refused to comment as to whether his father was sympathetic to the Communist Party; refused to comment on whether his father was outspoken in favor of communism; and refused to comment as to whether his father had indoctrinated him with ideas or opinions concerning communism.

Branzovich denied he is a Communist and said, "I have always tried to be the best of my ability to be a good citizen and I am a loyal citizen."

Branzovich enlisted in the Air Force in 1953, received his basic training at Sampson Air Force Base in New York and was sent to Keesler Field to begin an electronics course.

"I gave a loyalty oath when I was sworn into the Air Force and also while waiting to get into school I signed a statement which said in effect that I did not belong to any subversive organization," Branzovich said.

His father became ill about that time and had his leg amputated below the knee. About Christmas 1953, the airman said he was convinced because of the financial situation at home he should seek a separation as a hardship case.

After his honorable separation Feb. 15, 1954, Branzovich returned to a meter reading job. He enrolled at Youngstown University and studied several subjects in night classes. He said he hoped to become a teacher.

Under the alternative he said was offered by the Air Force any discharge other than honorable lose many of his GI rights.

PLANNING AHEAD

AS BUSINESS activity continues at the highest peacetime level in history, American industry is expanding its planning and expansion activities to meet still higher demands for goods expected to appear in future years. And industry is banking heavily on new products and new designs to keep the expanding economy booming.

Farsightedness in designing new products and planning for production several years in advance has long been characteristic of American business and in creating the present high standard of living. Regardless of how good a product currently being turned out is, industrial genius is able to come up with improvements that continue to create desire to own the new product.

How industry plans in advance as a matter of course was revealed in New York by James C. Zeder, vice president of the Chrysler Corporation, when he said his company has completed styling for 1957 model automobiles, and parts for these cars are already being made. Production models for 1959 are now being designed, he said.

Other large automobile manufacturers are, of course, similarly engaged. Before a new automobile model is introduced to the public, plans for the following year's line have usually been completed. Many months are required to plan full-scale production.

It must be frustrating, though, to be an automobile designer and acquire a current model after having seen what cars two or three years hence will look like.

UNIMPRESSED

THE WEST was little impressed by Russia's announcement of plans to cut back its armed strength by 640,000 men. The reduction, if effected, will leave Russia with 6 million men under arms, compared to this country's 3 million.

In the realm of propaganda it has been difficult for the West to gauge how much of the friendlier Soviet attitude is revealed to the Russian and satellite populations. News from the West is receiving somewhat more objective treatment in the government-controlled press in Russia, but Soviet readers may be too inured to sudden switches in the communist propaganda line to be greatly impressed. Much of the current maneuvering is probably lost on the mass of the Russian people.

Demobilization could have a more noticeable impact upon the populace of Russia. Return of a neighbor or relative from the service is a personal experience, exacting a decisive response from family and community.

Thus, while the slight reduction in mobilized military manpower, if effected, will no doubt be based on realization that in the atomic age massed armed strength is less potent, Russian and satellite peoples may regard the move as proof of the Kremlin's peaceful intentions.

During the roasting ear season it is an interesting question whether people eat more corn than the pork population does.

American youth is not too concerned over efforts to debunk Davy Crockett. It remembers what happened to spinach.

These Days

Miss Jean Muir the actress who tried to clear herself of criticism by appearing before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, made this statement:

"...When the Spanish Republic was elected and then Franco attempted to overthrow it, it seemed to be an abrogation of the rights of free people to vote for the head of a government which they wanted. Of course, after the Communists took over the Loyalist Party, I became less and less involved in it. The one thing I can remember doing definitely was at an auction at which I auctioned off a picture. . . . Because of the confusion about the picture business previously discussed, and the Artists' Front to Win the War, it is possible this really was the organization at which the picture was made with Rockwell Kent."

Now, I never got excited about Miss Muir, not knowing her and never having seen or heard her. But I would like to know when "The Spanish Republic was elected;" what kind of an election was it? Such matters can be looked up in a book. Miss Muir got all excited about the Spanish Republic but what about Finland or Poland or South Korea? Why would one become more excited about the Spanish Republic than about any other?

So let's look at the facts:
On April 14, 1931, King Alfonso of Spain left his country and throne, without abdicating and Alcala Zamora set up a government with himself as President. There was no election. However, on June 28, there was an election and the Republican-Socialist coalition won by a huge majority. A new constitution was adopted, after the election, providing among other things for universal suffrage. On December 10, Zamora was elected President under the terms of the new constitution.

On August 10, 1932, a conservative revolt led by General Jose Sanjurjo occurred and was suppressed. On September 25, Catalonia became autonomous. On January 8, 1933, the Syndicalists and Anarchists of Barcelona revolted which indicated that the lower classes were as dissatisfied as the upper classes. On November 19, 1933, an election was held which gave the Right parties 44 per cent and the Left parties only 21 per cent.

Coalition Ministries, following this election, could not stand. On October 4, 1934, the Catholic "Popular Action Party" joined the Cabinet of Premier Alejandro Lerroux. The next day, the Left parties called a general strike.

On February 16, 1936, new elections were held and a Popular Front of Republicans, Socialists, Syndicalists and Communists won a decisive victory. Manuel Azana formed a Cabinet; decided without legality to remove President Zamora, which was done on April 10, 1936. On July 18, the Spanish Civil War broke out when the army chiefs in Spanish Morocco rebelled. This revolt, led by General Francisco Franco and General Emilio Mola, spread throughout the country.

Italian and German "volunteers" joined the insurgents; Russia supplied the Communist-controlled government. On October 1, 1936, General Franco assumed the position of Chief of the Spanish State. The Civil War ended on March 28, 1939, with Franco in control of the country.

I am not trying to show off my knowledge. I looked this up in "An Encyclopedia Of World History," compiled by Professor William L. Langer of Harvard, which Miss Muir could do as well if she took the pains. But I cannot see in all this why an American who was not a Communist or a Fascist could get all steamed up over it.

New Surgical Dressings Have Many Advantages

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

NEW methods of covering burns and surgical incisions promise to make patients more comfortable during recovery.

Dr. A. W. Farmer of the Hospital for Sick Children at Toronto, says that the use of aluminum dusting powder facilitates treatment of burns.

Every Six Hours

Metal about the size of 50 microns is dusted on the burn from a salt shaker or patted on with gauze every six hours for a period of 48 hours. This is done, of course, only after the burn has been cleaned.

By the second day, he reports, the scab becomes dry, tough and moderately flexible. Thus, the patient does not need splints or apparatus to suspend the burned limb.

Another Use

There is another use for the powder, too. When it is sprinkled on the bed, Dr. Farmer has found, it prevents the bedclothes from sticking to the burned area.

In covering operative wounds, two doctors at the University of Chicago report success with aeroplast, a plastic compound.

Dr. W. E. Adams and Stanley P. Rigler report that wounds sprayed with aeroplast heal as well as injured tissue covered with conventional dressings. And there are no added complications with the plastic spray.

Transparent Film

Moreover, they point out, when the compound is applied immediately after the incision is sewed together, the transparent film covering makes it easier to observe the area. This is especially so, they say, in incisions of the thorax.

Chemically, the substance is a modified polyvinyl chloride acetate copolymer in an ethyl acetate solvent—in case you're interested.

But probably more important to you is the fact that it is somewhat less expensive than the material now commonly used.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. J. Mc.: What causes Iritis and is there a cure for it?

Answer: Iritis is inflammation of the colored part of the eye. It may develop as a result of some infection in other parts of the body, such as in the teeth, tonsils, or nasal sinuses.

When this disorder occurs, a thorough examination by an eye specialist is necessary to determine the source of the infection, so that proper treatment may be given.

You're Telling Me!

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

Credit buying is reported soaring. We're all so atom bomb conscious these days we've almost forgotten the pitfalls of the low down payment.

The government says auto purchases have zoomed credit buying to an all-time high. It's our two-cars-for-every parking-space standard of living.

The administration is taking a baleful look at this credit situation. The last time it got that way, FDR was elected.

At the end of June, us folks owed credit payments of $32,500,000—more than the national debt. The government probably figures we aren't on firm financial footing if we owe each other more than we owe ourselves.

It seems we're getting hurried like we get most everything else. On the installment plan.

The actors sure turned out to be temperamental for the House Un-American activities committee. Some would hardly talk and some would hardly stop.

They weren't bothered at all by the House committee's threats. They've been held in contempt too many times.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

SARA moved to unlock her own door.

Judith, following her, sat primly on the settee.

The pseudo-Gerry, lounged in an armchair, glass in hand, looking as much at home as if he had come to stay for a week-end.

Sara looked at her watch. "Thirty minutes."

"What do you mean?" demanded Judith.

"I was in that elevator about 30 minutes. It seemed like a thousand years. Whether you realize it or not, Judith, I think you saved my reason. I'd like to say thank you, but I can't find the right words."

"Don't you think you owe Gerry an apology?" said Judith with asperity.

"You really do, Sara." The pseudo-Gerry looked at her reproachfully. "Lord, you dragged everyone I know into it—my partner, my cousin, my cleaning woman, my secretary, my landlady, the police. And you still weren't satisfied."

"Yet everything you did just proved all the more that he was Gerry," put in Judith, fiercely protective. "You will admit it now, won't you?"

Sara drew strength from her knowledge of the real Gerry. How could Judith mistake this weak carbon copy for the real Gerry?

"Just a minute, Judith!" Sara was angry. "Gerry did disappear and he's not here now. Have you forgotten the three little moles that make a rough triangle on his right cheek?"

"Lord, you dragged everyone I know into it—my partner, my cousin, my cleaning woman, my secretary, my landlady, the police. And you still weren't satisfied."

"Moles?" For the first time the impostor was startled. His fingertips flew to his right cheek.

A buzzing like the hum of an angry insect cut him short.

"You have visitors?" Judith rose. "Gerry Hone never had a mole in his life, as you very well know."

"Let it ride, Judith," said the young man.

"Why? I think she's unbalanced."

"Unbalanced?"

At sound of a new voice, all three turned toward the door that stood ajar. Dickson Clive came into the room. "I didn't mean to eavesdrop, but . . ." His glance reproved Judith. "Your voice was rather loud."

"Oh, Mr. Clive!" Sara was so relieved to see a face she trusted that tears stood in her eyes.

Clive was still looking at Judith. "I wouldn't use the word 'unbalanced' too carelessly if I were you."

"I'm not using the word carelessly," Judith's voice cracked like a whip. "I'm using it deliberately. Sara Dacre is the most pitiful neurotic I have ever met. Her latest hallucination is that an unseen, unidentified man locked her in the elevator this evening, knowing she was a claustrophobe, and threatened to kill her. I've had enough of her delusions. I'm going. Are you coming with me, Gerry?"

The man looked at Sara helplessly. "I'll see you later," he said, and followed Judith through the door.

Try, Stop Me

A big Hollywood producer was boasting about a new assistant he had picked among his remote relatives. "It's positively refreshing," he asserted, "to meet a fellow as young as this who never hesitates to speak his mind. Just yesterday, for instance, I asked his frank opinion of a couple of new ideas he had, and he put it right on the line. He said they were great!"

At the club luncheon, the v.p. remarked,

Sara summoned a smile for Clive. "Please sit down. Sherry?"

"No, I thank you." He looked older, more tired and anxious than she had ever seen him. "I got your telephone message. I tried to reach you by telephone but there was no answer. That worried me, so I came directly here. What has been happening?"

"A great deal since I telephoned." Sara told him about the elevator and the voice.

"Surely you can identify the voice if you hear it again?"

"I'm afraid not. It was barely audible. I'm not really sure whether it was a man or a woman."

"Is there anyone you suspect?"

"There were five people who knew I was afraid of that elevator: The real Gerry, the impostor, Judith, Capt. Sanders and Sallust. And that brings me to the reason I telephoned you. Last night I thought Sallust's face was familiar but I couldn't place it. Now I've remembered. He was in the crowd when Moxon died, only then he was wearing a broad-rimmed, western hat that shadowed his face, and speaking with a southern western drawl. He gave a false name and address to the police there."

"He must have been wearing the broad-rimmed hat before the accident occurred. How did he know he would wish to alter his usual appearance, unless he knew Moxon was going to die? How could that be unless he planned to kill Moxon himself? And why didn't he say one word about his seeing Moxon die when Aunt Caroline told him about Moxon's death later that same evening? Another thing: How did Sallust happen to be at Aunt Caroline's that evening when I was wearing the ruby? Did he invite himself?"

Clive frowned. "Let me see. . . . He telephoned me just as I was dressing. He said he was at a loose end that evening and asked me to dine with him. I told him I was already engaged for dinner with Mrs. Larch. Then he asked if he might drop in after dinner. I told him I thought Mrs. Larch would be delighted."

"Just as I thought!" cried Sara. "He must have known that you and I go to Aunt Caroline's for bridge every Thursday. So, when he failed to get the ruby from me on the street, he called you and wangled an invitation to Aunt Caroline's, believing I would go there as usual."

"But how did he know you had the ruby? And how did he know you were the Sara Dacre I may have mentioned as Caroline's niece?"

Elbows on table, forehead propped against one hand, Sara concentrated her whole mind on Sallust and just as if she were concentrating the sun's rays with a magnifying glass above a scrap of paper—light came.

"Sallust was at the Automat after the accident. I remember now. A man who stared at me. A man without a hat. Of course he would get rid of that western hat immediately. 'Mr. Patterson of Berkeley, California,' must disappear and Dr. Sallust must take his place, because 'Mr. Patterson' was identified with Moxon's death and Dr. Sallust wasn't. I suppose he bought another hat soon afterward, but there wasn't time for that before he reached the Automat."

"Accept Gerry Hone for what he is—the real Gerry. Then the police will listen more sympathetically to the story about Sallust."

Sara laughed aloud. "You want me to lie so that people will believe I'm telling the truth?"

His eyes narrowed. "Sara, are you still convinced in your own mind that it would be a lie?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

Sara hesitated. She had promised not to tell anyone, but she needed help now and Dickson Clive was almost like a blood relative, Caroline's oldest friend with roots deep in the rich earth of her past.

Ike Happy There By Pig-Pen

By ED CREAGH

(For Hal Boyle)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ever heard a President of the United States call a pig?

Dwight D. Eisenhower does it this way:

"Soooooey," he calls, in a half-croon, half-chuckle. "Soooooey! ho, Peeg! Peeg! Peeg!"

And up to the President comes (or doesn't come, as suits its mood) one of the various porkers growing fat and marketable on the Eisenhower place up Gettysburg way.

Some newsmen seeing Ike turn hog-caller the other day, shortly before he left for Denver, gave the general verdict that he has the true, down-to-mud approach. Maybe he'll never win any hog-calling contests, but he usually gets his pig.

Then, of course, the conversation turned to whether the President will run again in '56, and nobody agreed with anybody about anything.

But he certainly did look at home and happy there by the pig-pen.

It would have chilled the Republican party to the marrow to see the affectionate way he slapped a skittish gift heifer on the rump. That was the gesture of a man who'd rather be a farmer than President any day.

But then people remembered Eisenhower at Geneva, talking turkey to the Russians. Sure, he'd rather retire to the farm, but what if he felt he had a better chance than anyone else of staying off a third world war. Would any private preference keep him from doing it?

And so the conversation went 'round and 'round and came out nowhere.

One . . . of the correspondents came up with a thought:

Suppose Eisenhower refused to run again—because of the farm, because of his age, because of his health or his wife's, because of any combination of circumstances known or unknown to the public.

Then why not make him chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, where his personal prestige and the carry-over power of his office would make him the most formidable spokesman this country could possibly have?

That way, he'd have six months or so out of the year to spend on the farm.

Barbara Campbell Becomes Bride Of H. Eugene Kerns

Trinity Church Is Scene Of Rites

Large satin bows entwined with sprigs of ivy marked the pews of Trinity Lutheran church for the wedding of Miss Barbara Sue Campbell and Harold Eugene Kerns.

Miss Campbell is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman S. Campbell of Williamsport Route 2. Mr. Kerns is the son of Dr. and Mrs. V. D. Kerns of 234 N. Scioto St.

The custom of open church was observed for the double ring ceremony, which was read by the Rev. Carl Zehner, pastor of the church. Baskets of white gladioli and mums, flanked by seven-branch candelabra against a background of palms formed the setting for the rites.

Mrs. Karl Herrmann presided at the organ, presenting a program of nuptial music including: "Evening Star", "I Love Thee", "A Dream" and the traditional professional and recessional marches.

Willard Arledge, cousin of the groom, soloist, offered: "Because", "The Wedding Prayer", "I Love You Truly" and during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over white bridal satin. The gown was designed with a Peter Pan collar and long sleeves, forming points at the wrists. The fitted bodice complemented the very bouffant skirt, which was of tulle, embellished with a band of lace which extended down the back to a point. The gown swept into a circular train.

Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap of Chantilly lace. Her only jewelry was a set of pearl earrings, a gift of the groom. Her bridal bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis and was carried on a white Pi Beta Phi Bible.

Miss Dona Kerns, sister of the groom, served as maid of honor. Desmatrons were Mrs. Jean Romero of Chillicothe and Mrs. Richard Anderson of Sumter, S. C., sisters of the bride.

The attendants were gowned alike in short dresses of Pervenche blue crystalette, styled with portrait necklines, long fitted bodices and extremely bouffant skirts. Their accessories were satin hats, gloves and satin shoes in a shade of rose beige. They carried bouquets of roses and wore pink earrings, gifts of the bride.

Michael Easley of Portsmouth, fraternity brother of the groom, served as best man. Seating the guests were: Lt. Richard Anderson, brother-in-law of the bride, Joe Blue, John Stevenson and Wesley Edstrom Jr., all of Circleville.

Little Miss Colleen Romero and Arthur Romero of 244 Long St., Chillicothe, were flower girl and ring bearer.

Mrs. Leon Van Vliet presented nuptial selections on the piano during the reception, which was held in the parish house immediately following the ceremony.

Hostesses for the reception, which was attended by 250 guests, were: Mrs. Stanley Glick, Miss Mary Weffler, Miss Elisabeth Stevenson, Mrs. Patty Karshner, Mrs. Sharon Keiser, Miss Marilyn DeLong and Mrs. Carolyn Edstrom.

The buffet style table was centered with a traditional four-tier wedding cake, circled with daisies and greens. Triple branch candelabra holding tall tapered interspersed with fern were placed on either end of the table.

MORE MORE MORE MORE

Mrs. Campbell received her guests in a Navy blue dress of lace and sheer. She wore accessories in Navy and a corsage of pink mums and greenery.

Mrs. Kerns, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of medium blue silk, accented with accessories in pink and a corsage of pink mums. Mrs. Minnie Kerns and Mrs. Jennie Boden, grandmothers of the groom, wore corsages of white carnations.

Following the reception, the new Mr. and Mrs. Kerns left for a week's wedding trip to North Bay in Canada. The bride travelled in a tan sheath dress, accented with accessories in avocado, and she wore an orchid corsage.

The new Mrs. Kerns is a graduate of Ohio University, holding a bachelor of science degree in Home Economics. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, and is a teacher in the Jackson Township school.

Mr. Kerns graduated this Summer from Ohio University, with a bachelor of arts degree in psychology. He is a member of Beta Theta Phi fraternity. He will teach in the Saltcreek Township school this season, and expects to enter the Air Force June 15, 1956, when he is to report to Texas as a second lieutenant.

Following their wedding trip, the new Mr. and Mrs. Kerns will make their home at 119 Wilson Ave., Circleville.

Dr. and Mrs. Kerns entertained the wedding party and several additional guests with a dinner preceding the rehearsal. The event was held in the Wardell Party Home, where the table was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and mums, tall lighted tapers and miniature brides and grooms.

Adding On A Private Room Has Advantages, Is Economical

Payment Plans Can Be Set Up To Suit Purse

'Open-End' Mortgages And Banking Firms Have Needed Cash

Finishing off a separate room for a school boy or school girl can be a profitable project.

You can find lots of authorities (probably with no children of their own) who will pontificate on the theme of how a private room contributes to the development of an adolescent's personality. But in plain words, there's no denying that the youngster will like the idea and besides it can add value to your house.

Whether this room involves conversion of an attic, a breezeway, a garage, or a corner of a dry and airy basement, it should not be regarded as a temporary expedient. You may think that within a few years, junior or sister will finish school and soon fly the coop. However, good use can always be found for a well-planned and permanently finished extra room.

Of course, all construction work is relatively expensive nowadays, but it is easy to make a justifiable home improvement on a time payment basis. Banks and savings associations readily advance funds for such projects, especially when the FHA insures their loan and you pay for the insurance.

IN OTHER CASES, where there is an "open-end" clause in a mortgage, you can borrow back some of the money you already have paid off and either extend the life of the mortgage without paying more each month, or increase the remaining payments.

A wood paneled room is especially appropriate for a boy, as well as for future use as a den. This has an informal and rustic tone and still it has dignity, too, because of its early American background.

You can get gorgeous effects with wood paneling without spending a fortune. One of its big advantages is the fact that you don't have to redecorate if you stain the wood or wax it to keep its natural appearance.

Some of the most beautiful pine paneling in historic houses never was finished in any manner. It was merely allowed to mellow with age and whatever oil or grease it picked up from the air.

Or if you prefer, you can paint any kind of wood paneling in the Williamsburg style. The only trouble with painting it is that it will call for a tough removal job if anyone ever wants to get down to the natural wood.

A GOOD TIP on staining tongue and groove decorative paneling, such as a knotty pine, is to stain and seal the boards on both sides and all edges when you have them cut to size and before you nail them into place. It insures you against having unfinished cracks show up in the course of natural movement in the wall, such as from expansion, contraction or settling.

Another sound suggestion is to store your lumber for a few days in the room where you plan to use it. The boards should be stacked with strips separating them to allow for complete air circulation.

This permits the lumber to adjust to the prevailing temperature and humidity of the room before it is nailed and rigid. Any scrap wood or short pieces of wood lath can be used for strips.

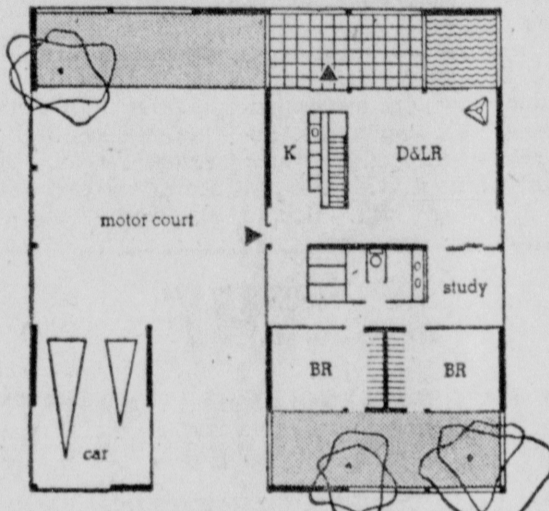

These are good ideas whether you are using Southern yellow pines, pecky cypress, or any other kind of wood. And it also is wise to get acquainted with all of the various woods available at your local lumber yard.

The Western pines, alone, include Ponderosa, Sugar and Idaho

Here's a Home That's on the Square

Designed by Paul Schweikher, chairman of the department of architecture at Yale University, this asbestos-sided home has all its major living elements contained in an enclosed square. As the plan shows, one-half of the enclosure is formed by the house, with a terrace and pool off the living room and a garden flanking the bedrooms. The other half is occupied by an automobile shelter, a motor court and a gravel court. The design is one of six created by outstanding architects throughout the nation to demonstrate how today's smartly styled asbestos-cement siding shingles may be used to add charm to better class contemporary homes. In the Schweikher home, asbestos siding panels and welded wire fencing are used to complete the rectilinear enclosure.

Design, Modernization Of Homes Should Consider Older Persons

Design and construction of new homes, and the modernization of older ones, should take the special needs of older people into consideration, suggests the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

The life expectancy of the average American today has reached the all time high of 69.9 years, an increase of 5 1/2 years over that of a decade ago. There is good reason to expect that our national longevity will increase further, due to advanced medical and public health services, and to intensified research which constantly is adding to our means of preventing and treating disease.

An important result of this lengthened life span is the rapid growth of population at the older ages, and the substantially longer period of healthy retirement now anticipated by the average individual.

Protection against falls and physical injuries is vital, and elderly family members should be able to perform their ordinary household tasks without undue fatigue. Installation of asphalt tile flooring will give non-slip walking safety and cushioned underfoot comfort. The easy maintenance of this white pine, as well as the associated Douglas and white firs, red and incense cedars, larch, Engelmann spruce and Lodgepole pine.

sturdy floor covering will lighten their household work.

THE USE of ramps, instead of stairways, both inside and outside the house, also will help prevent accidents and over-exhaustion. A ramp should be gently sloping, and its flooring should have a non-skid, easy to walk on and care for surface. A continuous handrail, placed at a height of 32 inches, is recommended for ramps more than two feet long.

Because the health of elderly persons often is adversely affected by extremes of heat or cold, a home owner should make sure that adequate warmth and ventilation are provided. This might be done through installation of a system that affords year-around interior climate control.

The house design should provide for easy traffic flow and a minimum of obstructions and abrupt corners. Doors should not swing outward into passageways, and swinging doors should have small glass windows at eye level.

Doubling of facilities frequently used is another great convenience for elderly people. An upstairs telephone connection in a two story or split level home will save steps and effort. A second bath will help make the house more livable.

Supplementary lighting should be provided for older persons in addition to the usual lighting fixtures. A small light in the wall baseboard will help them find their way, safely in a dark hall or at night. A small beam of light at top and bottom will make passage of ramp or steps more safe.

The average 1955 automobile has 22 electric light bulbs compared to 19 general lighting lamps in a typical U. S. home.

New Color Scheme Can Avoid Pitfalls

If you are refurbishing your home for fall, perhaps with a brand new color scheme, carpets or other room accessories, don't shop blindly. Sit down with a pencil and paper and sketch out your room.

Will that extra end table look good next to the easy chair? If it is a round table, you may be surprised that it'll take more space than a rectangular table.

You don't need to use all the space in the room just because it is there. Keep a good distance between furniture pieces. Avoid crowding corners.

If the wall paper is patterned—control the urge to clutter walls with pictures. A small room can't take too many bibelots and pairs of things are likely to look out of place. Grouped things should be limited to two or three rather than five or six.

COLOR IS the warmth access-

Check For Taxes On New Residence

A builder rarely can give you an accurate idea of what your taxes will be when you buy a new house. Very often you will ride along for the first year on taxes on land only. Then, unexpectedly, comes the day of reckoning.

Ask owners of homes nearby, or ask the tax assessor.

Although real estate taxes are deductible on your income tax return, they still have to be paid when due.

On an average day, some half a million tons of silt ride the Colorado river down to Lake Mead, the huge reservoir created by Hoover dam.

sory. Though you must consult the man of the house in respect to your plans, weigh his color suggestions.

Decorator John Gerald observes that shades of red, white and blue should make for a happy decorating scheme.

"Men love red," says Gerald, "women adore blue, so why not combine both with antique white and have a happy home?" he asks.

Key your color scheme to a strong color in draperies or rugs. If a deep color is used on the walls, the wallpaper contrast must be muted rather than busy. Blues and greens and other cool colors make a room seem larger. Reds and yellows and other warm tones make walls advance.

If furniture is to be slipcovered or reupholstered coordinate pattern, fabric and furniture. Heavy fabrics are not for dainty Louis XV chairs, although period pieces may be perked up with plastic, leather and small scaled patterns in brocades. Avoid garish large fabric patterns or tweedy, nubby fabrics for itty-bitty chairs.

Patterned upholstery is best placed in front of solid color walls and draperies. Three colors is tops for a room with perhaps one pattern and stripe combining these colors.

Clutter makes for confusion. Don't try to fill up corners with furniture such as cupboards or bookcases, and be sure big pieces do not crowd out electric outlets.

Little Fellows Get Chance At Shotgun Gold

Class Championships Up For Grabs At Trapshoot Tourney

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—The little fellows get their crack at gold and glory today in the 56th Grand American Trapshoot.

In all but today's competition the less talented marksmen are forced to fire on even terms with the hotshots. In today's class championships, however, they compete only against those of comparable ability.

National titles in five divisions will be decided in the 200-target event. They are class AA for shooters who have averaged 96.5 or better this year on at least 500 targets at 16 yards, class A for those with an average of 94 to 96.5, class B for 91 to 94, class C for 88 to 91 and class D for under 88.

Some 700 shooters are expected to compete.

Entry fee is $25, of which $13 goes into the purse. The Amateur Trapshoot Assn. has added $2,500 to the prize fund and the shooters may toss $40 each into the optional wagering system in which they back their own prowess.

Also on the day's program is the state team race in which the five top shooters from each state compete at 16 yards and the champion of champions contest for junior state champion.

Trapshoot officials hoped for better weather than experienced yesterday in the 200-target introductory event which was held up for more than three hours by heavy rain and most of which was staged during a drizzle.

In the introductory, the following national champions were named: (scores in parentheses):

Men veterans (over 70) Homer Clark Sr., Alton, Ill. (99x100); women veterans (over 50) Mrs. Van M. Marker of Versailles, Ohio (93x100); father-son Frank and Bob Diefenderfer, Reading, Pa.

'Crucial' Now Commonplace In Hot AL Pennant Chase

The Associated Press

The crucial has become the commonplace in the fantastic American League pennant race. One slip on the part of any of the four contenders could mean finish to its hopes.

Only 4½ games separate the league leading New York Yankees from the fourth-place Boston Red Sox. In between stand the Chicago White Sox, half a game behind the Yankees, and the Cleveland Indians, one game back.

Someone has to crack. Yet no one shows any signs of giving in. If anything, all four are getting stronger on paper.

The Yanks' home run power again is asserting itself and its pitching is in order.

The White Sox again have Dick Donovan, their ace pitcher. He was laid up by an appendectomy for three weeks.

The Indians appear ready to roll with a four-game winning streak.

(390x400); brother-brother, Joe and Paul Heistand, Hillsboro, Ohio (387x400); husband-wife, Claude and Ruthe Winterrowd, Chicago (387x400); zone singles, Walter Ostrom, Orangeburg, N. Y. (100x100), women champion of champions, Mrs. Winterrowd (99x100).

Mrs. Frances King of Atlanta, Ga., broke 92 targets to take second place in women veterans competition.

Behind Mrs. King with 90 was Mrs. H. B. Rader of Jeffersonville, Ohio, with 90x100.

In the men veterans race, Col. J. R. Hall of Ashland, Mo., trailed Clark by one target with 98x100. Fred Harlow of Newark, Ohio, who won the Grand American Handicap championship in 1908, was in a three-way tie for fifth with 95x100. Fred Harlow of Newark, Ohio, who won the Grand American Handicap championship in 1908, was in a three-way tie for fifth with 95x100.

P. A. Romig of Uhrichsville, Ohio, a 90-year-old in his 21st straight veteran's title meet, scored a 76 after driving his own car almost 200 miles here.

Winners in class events included Robert Whitney of Hamilton, Ohio with 194x200.

The Red Sox, hanging doggedly on, are backing up their pitchers with timely hitting. And Ivan DeLoock's pitching has been a revelation.

Boston and Cleveland clash head on tonight, while the Yanks and White Sox have easier assignments. Casey Stengel's operatives face the Detroit Tigers, 13 games back and out of the running now, while the White Sox play the sad Baltimore Orioles in a two-nighter.

The Pale Hose have 14 games left with the other contenders. The Yanks have 16 and the Red Sox and Indians 15 each. Marty Marion's lads have a good opportunity to climb into first place since they play the Orioles four times within 24 hours—the two-nighter tonight and a day double-header tomorrow.

Something else that could decide the race in a hurry would be for one team to get hot. Both Al Lopez, the Indians' leader, and Stengel of the Yanks say that the club that can put together a fat winning streak will win it.

In the National League, the only question is: When will the Brooklyn Dodgers snap out of their slump. They've lost nine of their last 13 games and at the moment are 11 games ahead of the Milwaukee Braves.

A flash storm rained out the only action on Monday's schedule—a double-header between the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates. The rains came in the top of the fifth of the opener with the score tied 1-1. They'll be played at a later date in New York.

Brown-Parker Rivalry Revived

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—One of pro football's warmest rivalries, between Paul Brown and Buddy Parker, will be continued in the Senior Bowl Game Jan. 7.

Parker, coach of the Detroit Lions, was signed yesterday to coach the north squad in the seventh annual All-Star game. Brown, head coach of the Cleveland Browns, will handle the South team.

Parker and Brown locked horns in three straight pro world's cham-

Ashville Drops 7-6 Decision To Allen Milk

Trailing 7 to 4 in the ninth inning, Ashville's Irwin Insurance team had a belated rally fail one run short as they dropped another close decision to Allen Milk of Columbus 7 to 6 last Sunday.

Allen Milk, which thrives on taking close games from Ashville, won the game in the seventh. They scored five times on three hits, an error and a hit batsman. The batter, Munster, suffered a slight concussion and possible skull fracture.

In the ninth inning rally by Ashville, Jack Hutchison walked and Jerry Pritchard singled with one away. Both scored on a single by Ronnie Wilson, with Wilson moving to second on a play at the plate. But he was left there as the final two outs were made.

Pritchard, Wilson and Bob Glick each got two hits for Ashville. Jerry Spiers, former St. Charles star, hit safely three times for Allen Milk.

PREVIOUS GAMES won by Allen Milk were by scores of 7 to 6 and 5 to 3. Line score follows: Allen . . . 000 010 510 — 7 11 1 Ashville . . . 001 002 012 — 6 8 3 Connell; Stock. Hutchison; Valentine.

pionship games. Parker's Lions took the title two years but lost to Brown's club in 1954.

Romack, Downey Pitted In Match

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Defending champion Barbara Romack and Mary Ann Downey, two of the hottest shooters in the opening round of the Women's National Amateur Golf Championship, meet today in what shapes up as the No. 1 pairing of the tourney.

Each mastered the front side of the Myers Park Country Club course in 95-degree temperature.

Barbara polished off nervous 15-year-old Connie Gorsuch, Greensboro, N. C., 8 and 7, and Mary Ann smothered Mrs. Frank Cush, Washington, 5 and 4.

Joe DiMaggio has made two trips to Cooperstown, N. Y. The first time he failed as a pinch hitter with the Yankees and the second time, July 23, 1955, he was inducted into the Hall of Fame. $10.

The first Senior Amateur championship of the USGA will be held at the Belle Meade Country Club, Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 26 through Oct. 1. The entry fee is $10.

Seixas Seen As Key To Cup Hopes

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Vic Seixas, the 32-year-old U. S. champion, today loomed as the key man in the defense of the Davis Cup against Australia starting Friday. Nearly everyone at the West Side Tennis Club, site of the Challenge Round, has conceded that Seixas will drop his two singles matches and teammate Tony Trabert will win two. The doubles they rate a tossup.

Seixas is one of the few who isn't worrying despite his horrendous record since winning the title here last September.

"I'll be ready," he said before stepping on the court for another drill under the eyes of Captain Bill Talbert. "I feel keen again and that's half the battle."

Seixas depends on being "up" rather than blowing his opponent off the courts. His sharpness, quickness of movement and reaction in attacking at the net spell success for him. Without these, he's sunk.

"Everyone knows I'm the worst looking practice player in the game," he said. "That's why I'm not worrying."

Talbert said Seixas had looked vastly improved while practicing at Brookline, Mass., last weekend when the national doubles were rained out.

"Vic is better now than he has been in a long time," commented Talbert while his chief assistant Jack Kramer nodded.

Moore Tries Psychology On Marciano

NEW YORK (AP)—If Rocky Marciano belts his sparring partners around with extra vigor in the next few days, they can blame it on Archie Moore.

The heavyweight champion has been doing a slow burn since the 33-year-old Moore, a psychology student, tossed the gauntlet to Rocky at their contract signing ceremony yesterday afternoon.

It happened when the fighters posed for cameramen and were asked to make statements. Commission Chairman Julius Helfand sat between them.

Archie, sporting a mustache and flourishing goatee, was the first to speak. He said:

"Rocky, it's been a long time

IT TOOK 45 minutes but Robert Howard (left) and Sidney Baugus, Idaho sportsmen, caught this 180-pound sturgeon near Big King, Id., using nite crawlers for bait. (International)

Guesspert Picks Chicagoans To Come Up With AL Flag

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—As the seething American League race prepares to go into its final month and as the eastern clubs open their closing foray through the west today, our choice has to be the Chicago White Sox over the Yankees and the Indians, in that order. A flag should wave over Comiskey Park for the first time since 1919.

Marty Marion has done an outstanding job of keeping the Sox "up" to this point, in the face of some hard knocks from the baseball fates, and there is no reason now to doubt that he has a team which means to fight it out to the last ditch. Casey Stengel said the other day that he didn't believe this Sox club "is going to tail off the way the others did."

As of today the Sox have battled and it should be a great fight and make us a lot of money."

Then he turned to face Marciano and added:

"Rocky, I do expect to win your title."

Marciano's eyebrows shot up at the unexpected thrust.

The confident light heavyweight king has said before that he expects to beat Rocky but the surprising part was that he said it to his opponent's face.

Archie seldom does anything on the spur of the moment and the chances are that he deliberately planned the remark in his "war of nerves" with the champ.

Chuck Davey Rusty In Comeback Try

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Chuck Davey, the once flashy collegian who three years ago fought his way to a welterweight championship bout with Kid Gavilan, planned a comeback today.

But judging from the split 10-round decision the former Michigan State University fighter gained over Pat Manzi of Syracuse last night it was hard to see how Davey plans to get anywhere.

Davey, slow and rusty after a 15-month rest, piled up points more because Manzi couldn't solve his southpaw style rather than on any great merit of his own.

turned to shortstop after having been an outcast most of the season. If we knew that the Scooter could go for one more glorious month, day in and day out, as he is going now, we would have to pick the Yanks. But the chances are he won't stand the gaff, hard as it is to say about one of the game's truly great stars.

As for the Indians, one can only believe the recent evidence that their pitching big three of Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia finally is feeling the strain. They no longer are pitching those low-hit complete games that made them the despair of the league.

In short, there are important "ifs" attached both to the Yanks and the Indians. So far as we can see, the White Sox have no such consuming worries.

It finally is clear that the bombers' chances are wrapped up in Phil Rizzuto, the wonderful little veteran who finally has been re-

Sokolsky's These Days

Miss Muir says that she worried about the "abrogation of the rights of free people to vote for the head of a government which they wanted." That happened in a great many countries and I never heard of Miss Muir getting excited about the manipulations in Czechoslovakia which resulted in the suicide or murder of Jan Masaryk. Then Miss Muir said that "after the Communists took over the Loyalist Party, I became less and less involved in it." I take it that Miss Muir was involved in the Loyalist Party. Why? Why should an American citizen be involved in a foreign party? Furthermore, what would Miss Muir say if one told her that there was no Loyalist Party in Spain? So, what was she involved in?

I think the counsel for the House Committee on Un-American Activities might have looked into a book and asked a few questions along these lines.

Most kitchen cleaners and abrasive soaps contain pumice stone.

Hartman, McDowell To Attend Superintendents' Conference

Aug. 30 Confab To Have Laws Fully Explained

R. M. Eyman Calls Columbus Meeting On State-Wide Basis

Both city and county superintendents of schools here — George Hartman and George McDowell — are planning to attend an important conference in Columbus Aug. 30.

A state-wide meeting of superintendents has been called by R. M. Eyman, state director of education, for the purpose of discussing new school legislation. Both Hartman and McDowell expressed a keen desire to listen to the interpretation of newly passed laws.

It has been customary for the state department of education to set up such meetings at the close of legislative sessions. All school legislation enacted by the 101st General Assembly will be viewed in two sessions, with the first starting at 10 a. m. next Tuesday in the State Office Building.

One of the most important laws to be discussed will be the foundation program and legislation providing for a state board of education.

THE FOUNDATION program, which creates a new school subsidy system in October of 1956, will be explained by Robert L. Rohe, director of the Division of School Finance.

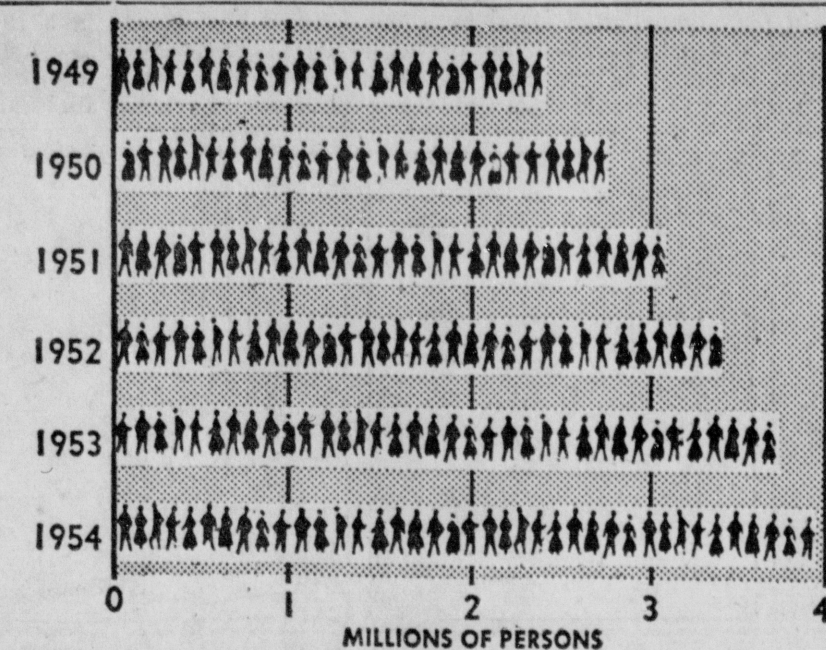

Known as Senate Bill 321, the program is based on the teacher-classroom unit rather than on the number of pupils. Also included in this bill are increases in teachers' minimum salaries.

Robert L. Drury, the legal counsel for the Ohio Education Association, will analyze House Bill 212, which provides for a 23-member state board of education. One member of the new board is to be elected from each congressional district in Ohio.

During the afternoon session, several other bills passed by the legislature will be discussed.

L. D. Shuter, executive secretary of the state teachers retirement system, will explain Senate Bill 380. This provides that a member of the retirement system shall receive certain credit which he may have been denied before.

A LAW WHICH becomes effective next Sept. 29 will come under scrutiny by Robert Longworth, Longworth is superintendent of

NUMBER OF PERSONS covered by insured pension plans in the U. S. rose steadily from fewer than two and a half million in 1949 to nearly four million in 1954, this chart from a booklet issued by the Institute of Life Insurance, New York City, shows.

Koreans Discover Long-Missing Ring

ALBANY, N.Y. — Broderick Spendiff has his Siena College

Carroll County schools and a Legislator from that county.

The bill, known as Senate Bill 322, requires action by the state board of education before certain territory which is annexed to a corporation can become a part of the school district of the corporation. Longworth will also discuss House Bill 498, which applies to county citizens' committees—a bill which he co-authored.

House Bill 76, which requires that certain subjects be taught in Ohio's schools, will be explained by R. M. Garrison, director of the division of elementary and secondary education.

Eyman will preside at both sessions. He and W. D. Darling, his assistant, plus other members of the staff will act as an informal panel in a question and discussion period scheduled at the end of the afternoon session.

class ring again, two years after losing it in Korea.

Spendiff lost the ring when he was serving with the army in 1953. A detail of Koreans found it last Fall while cleaning out old installations. A Siena man in the army there at the time sent it to the Rev. Benjamin Kuhn, Siena alumni director.

Father Kuhn traced Spendiff by means of the initials and the graduation date —1952— engraved on the ring.

Mitchell Expects Stevenson To Run

ORLANDO, Fla. — Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, said Monday night he expects Adlai Stevenson to run for president in 1956 and that he will support his candidacy.

"I think he will be nominated and elected. From what I've seen he is definitely the first choice of Democrats around the country," said Mitchell in an interview. Asked who he considers likely candidates if Stevenson does not run, Mitchell said that Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York are "mentioned most frequently."
